City Expanding Wastewater Treatment Plant

In May, the City broke ground on a $6.2 million expansion of the H.C. Morgan Wastewater Treatment Plant. This expansion is a major step in ensuring the City's sewer system will be adequate to serve the Auburn community for the next twenty years. When the City bought the facility from Professional Services Group in 2001, a savings of $10 million was realized. The project is funded from those savings.

Currently, the H.C. Morgan Wastewater Treatment Plant has a 5.4 million gallons per day (MGD) capacity. After the expansion is completed in winter 2004, capacity will be increased to 9.0 MGD. The project consists of construction of a headworks system with a mechanical screen and grit removal system; construction of two anoxic tanks and installation of required mixers; construction of a third clarifier and installation of three flow control valves; and construction of a sludge handling facility with a sludge belt press, lime silo, and pug mill. The City's engineering consultants, Goodwyn, Mills, and Cawood, project that this expansion will give the City adequate sanitary sewer capacity through 2020. The Northside Treatment Plant will be closed after the expansion is completed and will be converted to a pumping station.

This expansion creates numerous benefits for the City. First, the conversion of the Northside Treatment Plant will result in reductions in annual operating and maintenance fees because of the savings in electricity, chemicals, and personnel costs. Another benefit is that the conversion of the Northside Treatment Plant to a pumping station will remove effluent from the Saughatchee Creek, which the Alabama Department of Environmental Management classifies as an endangered stream. A final benefit is that all wastewater will be centrally treated at the H.C. Morgan Plant, thereby making wastewater reuse more feasible. For more information about this project, please contact the Water and Sewer Department at 501-3060.

Avoiding the Bite of Mosquitoes

With the onset of summer comes renewed concern about mosquitoes. Preliminary tests in Mississippi and around the United States show a return of the West Nile Virus this year. West Nile Virus can cause a type of encephalitis that results in an inflammation of the brain. This particular type of encephalitis is transmitted through the bite of a mosquito carrying the West Nile Virus. Mosquitoes become infected with the virus by biting a wild bird that has the virus.

The City of Auburn, in conjunction with the Lee County Health Department, is encouraging citizens to take precautionary steps to avoid mosquito bites. Here are a few precautionary steps that can be taken:

- Prevent or limit exposure to mosquitoes by avoiding outdoor activities between dusk and dawn when mosquitoes are most active.
- When outdoors, wear clothing that covers arms and legs and use insect repellent.
- Since some adult mosquitoes rest on the underside of leaves in dense vegetation during the day, cut tall weeds, and keep shrubs and trees trimmed away from the house to increase air circulation.
- Clean and chlorinate pools that are not in use.
- Invert, cover, or remove any containers that could hold water such as tires, buckets, birdbaths, wheelbarrows, and wading pools.
- Change the water in pet bowls daily.
- Clean debris from rain gutters. Clogged rain gutters are a very common breeding location for mosquitoes.
- Install or repair screens and caulk cracks and crevices where insects can enter the home.
- Use yard foggers or sprays to repel mosquitoes.

For additional information on preventing mosquito bites, contact Bill Niemeyer at the Lee County Health Department at 745-5765 or visit the Environmental Protection Agency's website at <http://www.epa.gov/pesticides/factsheets/mosquito.htm>

SAFETY TIP: COVER THOSE OUTLETS!

Electrical panels, plugs, and switches should have a cover on them to prevent dust and debris from getting into the wiring. This reduces the risk of fire and electrical shocks.

Citizen Survey Begins Soon

The City of Auburn is preparing to conduct the 18th annual Citizen Survey. Interviewers will call randomly selected Auburn citizens between the hours of 5:30-9:00 p.m. on Monday through Thursday evenings beginning later this month. The telephone survey should only take about 15 minutes to complete. If you are contacted, your participation will be greatly appreciated. If the interviewer calls at an inconvenient time, he or she will be glad to try back later.

The Citizen Survey has been a valuable tool in monitoring the quality of City services, helping establish budget priorities, and in making policy decisions. A summary of the survey results will be published in a future issue of Open Line, available at City Hall, and posted on the City's website. For more information about the Citizen Survey, please call the Office of the City Manager at 501-7260.

Public School Funding Crisis

The current public school funding crisis in Alabama has caused a number of cities to search for ways to address the financial needs of their public schools. This issue has been given a great deal of thought by the Auburn City Council and others over the past few months and has been the subject of numerous stories in the local media. A detailed memo entitled Revenue Review addressing the issue is available for viewing on the City's web page at www.auburnalabama.org/budget. The problem facing the City and the Auburn City School system is that the State of Alabama has informed the City Schools that it will receive $2.1 million less next year than this year. Since the Schools are the City Council's number one priority, the members felt the need not to let the Schools suffer this loss. The Council also passed a resolution stating its intent to ask the State Legislature for authority to hold a property tax referendum to determine if Auburn citizens would prefer to replace the sales tax increase with a property tax for the Schools.
